TRENDS

#RISETOGETHER

Learn what consumers really need right now

#RISETOGETHER is our plan filled with inspiration in these challenging times. And how can we do that better than to first listen to what consumers think, feel and do? The COVID-19 crisis has changed their priorities. If we know their needs, we can respond to them better.

We've asked over 4000 consumers and 300 professionals about the main consumer drivers in today's market. Explore the 6 main need states we have detected. And discover the hottest solutions to tackle them throughout this edition and upcoming editions.

SAFETY & QUALITY

Hygiene, safety & quality rule

More than ever, hygiene, safety and quality are priority N°1. Reassuring consumers that their food is made according to the highest standards and safety conditions is key.

LOVE FOR LOCAL

We rediscover what's close to use

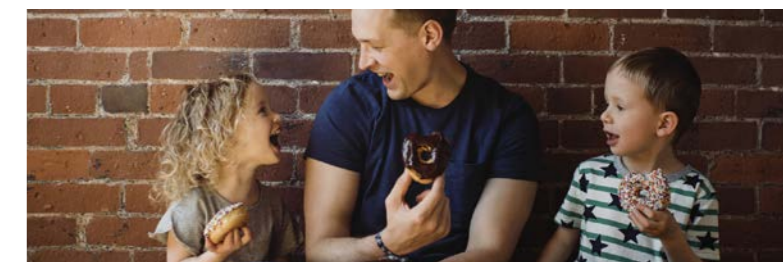

Consumers re-appraise what feels trusted and offers a safe re-discovery. With travel being restricted the love for local products has only grown.

FEEL GOOD FOOD

We choose food to lift our mood

At the start of the crisis, people had to cook at home. Now, people rediscover how food can add joy to their day. Food makes the taste buds travel and invites us to escape reality.

BUDGET BUDDIES

Spending is on everyone's watch

While economic prospects cause uncertainty, consumers are watching over the family budget. Great deals, free treats, and best value are on consumers' minds. Being a budget buddy for consumers will help gain trust and loyalty.

UPDATE/EDUCATE

We want to be better informed about our foods

Consumers want to know what their food is made of, where it comes from and how it has been processed. Traceability and safety guarantees become crucial to provide reassurance.

HAPPY & HEALTHY

We re-appraise foods that support our health & immunity

People are more conscious about what they eat and what it means for their health. This awareness drives healthy food choices that protect our immunity: more fruits, wholegrains, free-from additives.
